19TH ANNUAL SCHOOL SAFETY PATROL REVIEW

MAY 17, 1945

KEZAR STADIUM

SCHOOL SAFETY PATROL

The School Safety Patrols are under full time supervision of the Inspector of Safety Patrols and his assistant. They visit the schools and organize the patrols each school term. They also give safety lectures to the students and illustrate them with motion picture sound films.

The routes used by the children going to and from school are surveyed by the Inspector of School Safety Patrols. Stop signs, traffic signals, pedestrian underpasses, painted pedestrian crosswalks and "School Slow" signs are installed where necessary.

The following data shows in part the functions of this Bureau:

Number of Public Schools in San Francisco.....	97
Number of Parochial Schools in San Francisco.....	29
Other Private Elementary Schools in San Francisco.....	3
Numbers of members of School Safety Patrol.....	3,500
Number of school crossings handled by Patrols.....	600
Number of children attending schools.....	100,000
Additional schools provided for children in housing projects.....	5

The regular patrolmen assigned to street duty also assist the school boys in the regulation of traffic at various locations throughout the city. No accidents involving school children occurred at school crossings during the year 1945.

FLAG RAISING EXERCISES AT POLICE ACADEMY

SAN FRANCISCO POLICE ACADEMY

The year 1945 marked the completion of the eighth year of training at the Police Academy. Despite the effects of World War II, which created an acute manpower shortage, a rather extensive training program was conducted.

Limited tenure recruit officers were given short basic training instruction on basic police procedures. While these courses were necessarily brief, they were intensive and given on a personal tutoring basis.

At the request of the United States Government, the San Francisco Police Academy trained commissioned officers of the Army and Navy in Police Organization and Administration. The San Francisco Police Department was taken as a recognized model of police organization and its principles of operation were explained by the administrative staff officers of the Department. These principles are now being used in occupied areas in the Pacific Theatre of Operations by officers attached to Military Government.

Following the Military Government class, a series of police training courses were given to the superior officers of the Police Department. These courses were conducted on the conference method by Department instructors and recognized authorities from private industry and related law enforcement agencies.

Training was also given on supervisory technique to a group of superior officers of the Police Department by a representative of the War Manpower Commission as a part of the Job Relations program of the United States Government.

During August and September, a series of ten schools on the specialized subject of safe burglaries was conducted under the joint auspices of the San Francisco Police Department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. These schools were not only attended by the members of our Department, but also by the members of police departments in the Bay Area. These courses were of a technical nature and were given by laboratory technicians from the Federal Bureau at Washington, D. C., experts from our Department, and a representative of the Hermann Safe Company of San Francisco.

The Police Academy also trained the special police of the San Francisco Housing Authority, who are under the supervision of a superior officer of this Department.

Following the cessation of hostilities with Japan, the tempo of training was increased with availability of recruit personnel. Regular classes were held and by the end of the year the Department had nearly reached its authorized strength.

POLICE RESERVE

In addition to the members of the regular police force, the department has at the present time an enrollment of 693 volunteer members comprising the San Francisco Police Reserve, most of whom are former members of the Auxiliary Police Service, a unit of the Civilian Defense.

On December 11, 1944, a committee from the ranks of the said Auxiliary Police presented a petition to the Honorable Board of Police Commissioners in which they traced the history of the organization, its value, and also enumerated many reasons for its continuance. They also requested that the said Auxiliary Police be reorganized into a police reserve and its members be uniformed.

The Police Commission and the Chief of Police fully realized the importance of having such an organization continue its relation with the department, particularly so, because it represented an additional arm to the department of well trained and experienced volunteers whose value as extra policemen on the streets of this city was of paramount importance due to the department's acute shortage of manpower. An ordinance was therefore prepared and submitted to the Board of Supervisors which received unanimous passage on January 29, 1945, as Ordinance 3108, series of 1939. This ordinance created the San Francisco Police Reserve with a membership not to exceed 800 men. It also provided for the qualification, duties, power, compensation, and benefits of the members, as well as placing the organization under the jurisdiction of the police department.

Immediately upon adoption of the ordinance, specifications were drawn for the official uniform, star, and other equipment to be worn by the members and submitted to the Board of Police Commissioners for approval. The adopted uniform closely resembles that worn by the department members except for the inclusion of a crescent shaped shoulder patch and a few minor tailoring changes. A six pointed star was adopted to aid in distinguishing the Reserve members. As provided in the ordinance, each member receives the total sum of fifty dollars from the city as compensation for fifty hours of duty. All members have purchased the official uniform from these earnings which were deposited into a private bank account upon endorsement by the individuals. The uniforms were supplied by two local tailoring concerns which were awarded the contract after competitive bidding.

As was also provided in the ordinance, rules and regulations for the Police Reserve were promulgated and adopted by the Police Commission. These rules set up the various positions, commands, duties, discipline, minimum hours of duty, and other pertinent matters and were later printed into book form and supplied each member.

On March 20, 1945, through the medium of a Chief's Order, the San Francisco Police Reserve was placed in operation in lieu of the old Auxiliary Police and at which time the officer personnel for the Reserve was named by the Chief of Police. Five Reserve Captains were provided, namely: a Supervising Captain, a Captain of Special Events, a Captain of Personnel, a Captain of Juvenile Welfare, and a Captain to act as Secretary; forty-one Reserve Lieutenants were provided to command the several Reserve companies, units, and platoons in the various police districts; and eighty Reserve Sergeants were provided to supervise the Reserve patrolmen while on daily assignments.

To properly unite this volunteer organization with the regular police department and to control and supervise its police activities a liaison was established, composed of eleven regular department members. Originally one police officer in each police district acted in the capacity of a liaison officer to the Reserve in his respective district. In November of this year the number of liaisons was reduced and at the present time liaison duties between the department and the Reserve consists of one Sergeant of Police under the Deputy Chief of Police for the entire Reserve and four police officers, each with two or more Reserve companies to manage.

Under the jurisdiction and control of the above mentioned four liaison officers working directly under the Police Captains, the Police Reserve maintains a nightly patrol throughout the city. This patrol consists of Reserves working in pairs assigned to regular beats or areas in the several police districts and the tour of these nightly patrols is usually from 8:00 P. M. to 12:00 P. M., but in some instances the patrol is maintained until 2:00 A. M. In addition to this patrol, Sunday and Holiday daytime vehicular traffic is controlled at areas in the city where such traffic is usually heavy, such as the Ocean Beach, Park-Presidio Drive, Sloat Boulevard, 19th Avenue, et cetera. Aid in the control of night-time traffic in the down town area is given by Reserve members attached to the Traffic Bureau. The Reserve officers fall in at their regular assigned police stations, are given their assignments, and are read any information or orders concerning crime, wanted persons, wanted automobiles, et cetera. The benefits of such a procedure is best proved by the results accomplished which are listed later in this report. A check on their activities while on such assignments is constantly maintained and accurate records kept of each member's assignment, hours performed, and duty rendered. Each Reserve is required to report off duty in person at the conclusion of his tour in order to provide a safety check of all men on duty.

During the recent celebrations connected with "V.J" day the entire Police Reserve was assembled and placed on duty throughout the city, but particularly in the down town area to aid the regular department in the policing of the celebration. During this week alone, and especially on the nights of the celebration, the Police Reserve filled 1,520 assignments, put in 9,388 man-hours, made 5 felony arrests, 89 misdemeanor arrests, and assisted regular department members in 145 cases. Buses from the Municipal Railway were dispatched and used to transport the Reserve officers from the outlying districts to the down town area where they were required.

To summarize the activities of the San Francisco Police Reserve from the time of its inception on March 20th of this year to December 31, 1945, and to better evaluate its benefit to the city the following information taken from the records is given:

Total Enrolled	693
Assignments Filled
Patrol	15,594
Traffic	2,367
Special	6,490
Total	24,451
Man-Hours Performed
Patrol	71,546
Traffic	10,890
Special	33,137
Total	115,573
Actions Taken
Felony Arrests	43
Misdemeanor Arrests	735
Stolen Autos Recovered	141
Traffic Citations Issued	10,580
Department Cases Assisted	1,197
Total	12,696

As can be seen by the above report and figures, the Police Reserve of this city is a well organized and disciplined unit closely knitted into the normal workings of the regular department. The staggering sum of 24,451 assignments filled and 115,573 man-hours performed by these volunteers speaks exceptionally well for the morale and desire of the Reserve members to do a good job for this city and this department during its critical man power shortage. As important as these figures may appear they are secondary to the results accomplished as shown by the figures of the actions taken. The fact that so many bona-fide arrests were made, and in almost all cases convictions obtained, the number of stolen automobiles recovered, and the 10,580 traffic citations issued without any serious complaint from the public, along with other fine services speaks for the efficiency and alertness of the men.

Too often a police agency such as the San Francisco Traffic Bureau is content to stand upon its record as presented by a cold statistical analysis. While diligent research into these facts may produce a clear picture, the facts themselves can never reveal the complete effort put forth in coping with the traffic problem.

This problem has been designated by capable and responsible authorities as the most serious facing the nation as a whole, as well as the City of San Francisco on a community scale. The impact of its manifold ramifications has been felt in all walks of civic life through the loss of untold millions of dollars represented by 131 deaths, almost 5,000 injuries, and over 8,600 property damage accidents during the year 1946. Traffic congestion reaching saturation proportions is a constant threat to the economic life and development of the city. Because of inadequacies of funds, manpower, facilities, and even authority in many cases, it has been necessary for the Traffic Bureau to bring all of the resources at its command to bear upon this ever-increasing problem.

In performing this task, it should be noted at the outset that the principal function of any police agency must be that of enforcement. Its efforts in the fields of education, engineering, legislation and the like, are only incidental to this primary responsibility. That this responsibility has been adequately fulfilled is evidenced by the 1946 enforcement index of 20.6. This index, based on the number of convictions for dangerous violations in relation to the actual number of serious accidents, is more than double the recommended index of 10. The record of better than 90% convictions for all moving violations during 1946, together with a high degree of selectivity, indicates exceptional quality in the enforcement of the traffic laws. These factors must have had some influence in reducing the number of fatal and personal injury accidents, as well as pedestrian deaths and injuries.

An interesting experiment in the efficiency of enforcement was conducted during the year. It was noted that on Third Street there had been 17 deaths in the five months ending with February. This street is a six-lane divided highway carrying large volumes of commuter and industrial traffic. An analysis showed that a large percentage of all accidents involved vehicles traveling between 25 and 35 miles per hour—speeds which would normally be considered reasonable for this type roadway.

The usual detail of three motorcycle officers patrolling this street on three watches was increased to ten, with four men operating during the high accident periods. While this concentration of 20% of the total available motorcycle strength seriously depleted enforcement in other areas, it was felt that immediate and drastic action was necessary. After an educational program by press and radio, citations were issued for any speed in excess of 30 miles per hour.

A reduction in the death rate on this street was immediately effected and in the last nine months there were but seven deaths, most of which occurred in the final three months of 1946, after the last of the extra officers had been returned to other beats. Long needed engineering improvements in lighting and signalization may eventually reduce this toll still further.

The evils of congestion are generally caused by circumstances beyond the control of the police. Causative factors such as lack of loading and off-street parking facilities, as well as deficiencies in the mass transportation system are not subject to remedy through police action. In its traditional duties, the police department endeavored to allocate existing facilities on an equitable basis which is evidenced by the issuance of 378,000 parking citations, 356 zone surveys, and the recommended installation, repair or replacement of over 2,500 traffic signs.

During 1946 the designation of certain major arterials as express streets was undertaken. Upon police recommendation, "No Stopping" regulations were adopted and strictly enforced on three streets. This measure was so highly successful in clearing the heavily congested downtown area at the close of the business day, that it was extended to include thirteen additional streets by the end of the year. No small part in the success of this program was due to the imposition of a Five Dollar fine as well as physical removal of the vehicle for infractions of the "No Stopping" provisions. Here, too, increased fines and added enforcement for unlawful parking in loading zones was instrumental in relieving to some degree the congestion caused by double-parking.

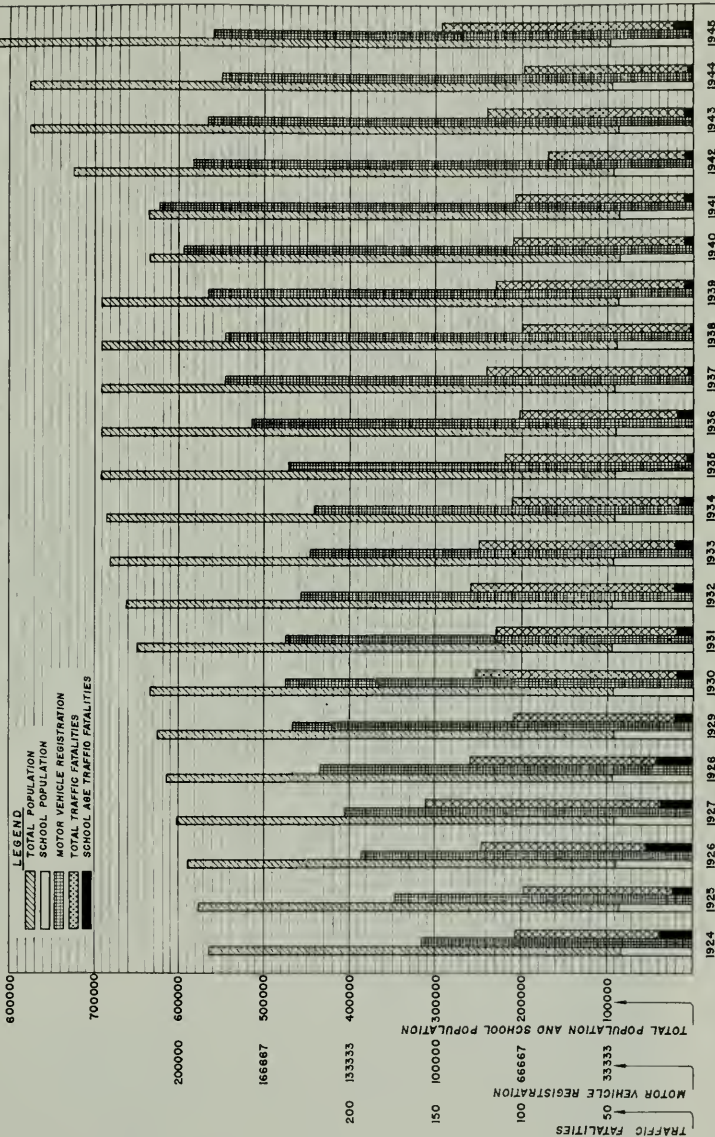

In the field of education, San Francisco's school traffic patrol maintained its national superiority. Its record of no deaths at a school crossing was extended to a phenomenal twenty-seven years. Liaison and assistance was provided civic groups such as the Chamber of Commerce, Service, and Improvement Clubs. Speakers were furnished and programs including motion pictures were prepared as requested. In cooperation with the Juvenile Court, a traffic school was conducted each Tuesday evening at Mission High School.

During the December holiday season, extra details of officers were assigned in the already congested downtown area to control pedestrians and facilitate vehicular movement. A concentrated safety campaign was conducted by the press and radio in which many civic and business groups contributed. This resulted in a leveling off in accidents of all types for the month of December rather than the usual marked increase.

Many of the important activities of the police department do not lend themselves to a statistical report. Among these were the handling of the abnormal situation created by a street-car strike and the national conventions of the Shrine and American Legion. Participation in the National Traffic Safety Check and the Bay Area Traffic Executives Council programs resulted in the examination of over eleven thousand vehicles for mechanical defects, with corrective measures for over 4,800 defects discovered.

All of this was but a part of the total effort by the police department to allay San Francisco's traffic ills. Much of the work done is but a beginning, much is shown in the accompanying statistical report. The accomplishments of the year 1946 point toward even greater improvement in the years to come. The Traffic Bureau faces 1947 with renewed vigor and enthusiasm.

SCHOOL SAFETY PATROL

The School Safety Patrol was organized in January, 1923, to establish and maintain co-operation between the School Departments and the Police Departments in their efforts and services to create and maintain a disciplined organization of pupils of the San Francisco schools to carry on the processes of education necessary to preserve the safety of the pupils against traffic hazards.

Instructions are given to the members of the patrols by the Inspector of School Traffic Patrol, and his assistant, who visit the schools each term. The school crossings are painted and the "School Slow" signs painted on the pavement approaching the crossings whenever necessary.

Assemblies are held and safety lectures are given, illustrated by sound safety films. Instructions are given the pupils as to the routes to be used on their way to and from school, the obeying of traffic signals, using underpasses, and crossing at intersections.

Meetings are also held with Parent-Teacher groups and safety problems are discussed.

As a reward for the Patrol's work, the California Theatre Owners Association provides Saturday matinee passes to the Patrol's members who have served for that week. For this purpose, the city is divided into six zones, and the members of the Patrols are allowed to attend any theatre in their zone.

The annual review is held each May at Kezar Stadium, and efficiency prizes are awarded to the schools with the highest efficiency record in each of the eleven battalions.

During the summer vacation a number of schools were used for summer vacation schools and patrols were organized and bus service was provided for the pupils attending the summer session.

Number of public schools served by the patrols.....	97
Number of parochial schools served by the patrols.....	29
Number of private schools served by the patrols.....	3
Number of busses furnished to transport pupils.....	14
Number of school crossings served by the patrols.....	600
Total number of patrols.....	3,500
Total number of children attending schools.....	100,000

In addition to the patrols the regular patrolmen assigned to street duty are detailed to school crossings in the vicinity of the schools.

No accidents involving school children occurred at any school crossings during the year 1946.

SAN FRANCISCO POLICE RESERVE

The San Francisco Police Reserve, still being retained as an aid to the regular police force of this city, has again for the year of 1946 demonstrated its worth to San Francisco. Manned exclusively by volunteer members, most of whom have served since Pearl Harbor days, it has continued to serve the city and this department in practically all matters requiring police attention.

Nightly patrols throughout all the police districts have been maintained, special events in the districts policed, details to large gatherings in the Civic Auditorium constantly attended to, traffic at the Ocean Beach, on Park-Presidio Drive, 19th Avenue, et cetera, controlled each Sunday and holiday, and special parades in the downtown area policed. As was the case in 1945 when the Police Reserve aided so greatly during the "V-J" celebrations, so it did again in 1946 when this city was host to the National Convention of the American Legion for several days. Daily details from the regular department to the many events of this convention were augmented by members of the Reserve and special gratitude was earned by them for the fine aid given the department during this convention and especially during the huge day and night parade.

During the year of 1946 an average membership of 570 was maintained, uniformed, and trained. From January until June the regular department conducted a thorough refresher and training course for all members of the Reserve. This course consisted of nightly classes for two weeks for each group and consisted of lectures, demonstrations, training films, and class participation. Members of the District Attorney's office volunteered their time to this course and lectured to each group on subjects of Criminal Law and Court Procedure as would pertain to police officers. Department members instructed in self defense, technique of arrest, panic and riot control, general police procedure, traffic accident investigation, crime details, and company activities, and certain members of the Reserve instructed in firearms, first-aid, and discipline.

Crime patrols in the several police districts were maintained throughout the year. Under the guidance of the Deputy Chief, a Sergeant of Police, and four regular police officers, acting as liaison officers, the Police Reserve, as said before, again proved its value to the city. Working in pairs, and usually in private automobiles bearing distinctive stars on the sides, members of the Reserve constantly patrolled the streets of this city each night. Each police district has had from six to twelve men on this patrol from 8:00 P.M. to midnight daily. During such patrols these men have constantly been on the alert for any violations of the law, have responded to radio calls so as to render aid to the regular radio car crews, have assisted greatly the members of the department's Accident Investigation Bureau such as preserving the accident scene, locating witnesses, directing traffic away from the accidents, and the like, and have always maintained a constant protection to unescorted women walking from street-cars to their homes in the residential districts. During such patrols excellent police work has been accomplished through the arrests and convictions of violators of the law, and in many instances exceptional initiative and bravery has been shown in their proper handling of cases.

To sum up the activity of the Police Reserve of this city and to better evaluate its worth, the following summary has been taken from the official records of this department:

Total Enrolled	541
Assignments Filled
Patrol	13,618
Traffic	2,380
Special Duties	4,390
Total	20,388
Man-Hours Performed
Patrol	61,432
Traffic	9,127
Special Duties	19,006
Total	92,865
Actions Taken
Felony Arrests	53
Misdemeanor Arrests	1,140
Stolen Autos Recovered	125
Traffic Citations Issued	9,664
Department Assists	1,979
Total	12,961

Of the arrests made, as shown above, a further break-down discloses that among the more important felonies and misdemeanors handled exclusively by members of the Reserve were the following:

Felonies

Robbery	7
Burglary	2
Grand Theft	1
Rape	1
Felonious Assault	2
Violation of the Gun Law.....	5
Purse Snatching	2
Section 700 W.L.C.	6
Drunk Driving Causing Injury	1
Possession of Stolen Auto.....	10
Booked to U.S. Marshal.....	5
Miscellaneous	11

Misdemeanors

Drunk Driving	58
Drunk in or About an Auto	17
Tampering With a Vehicle.....	11
Hit-Run, Property Damage.....	1
Possession of Illegal Knives.....	4
Assault and Battery.....	8
Petty Theft	2
Indecent Exposure	3
Lewd and Indecent Acts.....	2
Dumping of Refuse	20
Vagrancy	14
Disturbing the Peace.....	7
Miscellaneous	993

As can be seen by the above report and statistics, the Police Reserve continues to be a well organized unit of volunteer citizens of San Francisco, well knitted into the functions of the regular police force. That its members are conscious of their assistance to the department is borne out by the splendid work done, the results accomplished, the number of assignments filled, and the great number of man-hours performed. Evidence of the efficiency of the Reserve is indicated by the number of felony and misdemeanor arrests made and convictions obtained, and should also be sufficient proof that the members of this organization are valuable to the regular department, are additional protectors of the public, and are imbued with a fine sense of civic duty to their city and their fellow citizens.

SAN FRANCISCO POLICE RESERVE

During the year of 1947 the San Francisco Police Reserve again demonstrated its value to the City of San Francisco as an organization of volunteers well trained and experienced in routine police duties.

Nightly patrols between 8:00 P.M. and midnight for the purpose of crime detection and prevention have been maintained,—traffic on Sundays and holidays in the more congested areas such as the Ocean Beach, et cetera, have been controlled,—special events such as football games, baseball games, Civic Auditorium affairs, parades, et cetera, have been policed,—and the important traffic safety checks held through the city have almost exclusively been assigned to the Police Reserve with excellent results.

The nightly patrols, most important of the Police Reserve's activities, have been of great value to the regular department in aiding to keep the crime situation to a minimum. The Police Reserves, working out of the Mission, Northern, Richmond, and Taraval Stations, also patrol the streets in the several other police districts in a pattern that has provided coverage of practically the entire city. For this patrol the Reserves work in pairs and in their private automobiles; the men being in full police uniforms, and the cars bearing distinctive but demountable stars denoting the Police Reserve. An average of about twenty-four pairs of Reserve Officers are on patrol each night from 8:00 P.M. to 12:00 P.M., and in many instances until 2:00 or 3:00 A.M. While on such patrol these volunteers are constantly on the alert for any crime situation such as robberies, burglaries, auto thieves, strong-arms, purse snatchings, suspicious characters, and the like, as well as offering their protection to unescorted women walking to their homes late at night in the more remote parts of the city.

Outstanding assistance to the department has been given by the Reserve members responding to radio calls directed to the department radio cars on auto accidents, robberies, burglaries, et cetera. On auto accident cases the Reserves have directed, or rerouted vehicular traffic away from the scene and on robbery and burglary cases they have aided in obtaining descriptions, making searches, and apprehending the guilty. Many meritorious arrests in felony cases have been made exclusively by Reserve members acting on their own initiative, and very many reports are on file proving the ability of the Reserves to handle police cases in a manner bringing much credit to the regular department.

On August 2, 1947, an additional service to the police department was added, namely: a Police Reserve photographic crew of two men and a car fully equipped to handle the photographing of auto accidents as an aid to the department's Accident Prevention Bureau.

To better evaluate the Reserve's importance, the following statistics are herewith submitted. As shown by these figures, the Police Reserve continues to be a well unified organization of volunteer citizens of San Francisco, well knitted into the functions of the regular police force. That its members are conscious of their assistance to the department is borne out by the splendid work done, the results accomplished, the number of assignments filled, and the great number of man-hours performed. Evidence of the efficiency of the Reserve is indicated by the number of felony and misdemeanor arrests made and convictions obtained and which should also be sufficient proof that the members of this organization are valuable to the regular department, are additional protectors of the public, and are imbued with a fine sense of civic duty.

JUVENILE BUREAU

An important phase of police work covers the removal of situations and temptations provocative of crime, together with the guarding of the young from criminal influences. The implications contained herein are vast in their scope. Since research has shown that most criminals begin their careers in early childhood, the modern idea of crime prevention directs the attention and activity of the police to the prevention of juvenile delinquency. It also includes concerted action on the part of the police in the strict enforcement of laws pertaining to these individuals and sex psychopaths who prey upon children, and also to those laws relating to parents, who, by cruelty, neglect, abandonment or otherwise, contribute to the delinquency of their children.

We are cognizant, too, of the fact that those advantages which aid and improve the people spiritually, physically, economically and socially are allies on our side in the combat against crime. With these objectives in mind we have been enabled through funds provided by the Mission Kiwanis Club, The Mutual Business Club and other groups, to materially assist individuals, boys' clubs, and even families to a fuller and more enjoyable outlook on life.

The following is a statistical summary of services rendered from January 1 to December 1, 1947:

TRAFFIC EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

The Educational Detail, operating in a staff position under the Captain of Traffic, organized and directed the educational activities of the Traffic Bureau. This Detail was composed of a permanently assigned Sergeant of Police and such other officers as were required from time to time. The major projects undertaken by this Detail during 1947 were as follows:

School Driver Training

In the field of driver-training, a class was organized as an after-school program at the Abraham Lincoln High School under the sponsorship of the Parent-Teacher Association. Two members of the department, who were qualified as teachers of this subject, organized the course and served as the instructors. The American Automobile Association's "Driver Training Through High School and Home Cooperation" was used as a basis for the material presented.

At the outset of the course, two night meetings with the students and their parents were held, with the cooperation of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, at which formal applications for drivers' licenses were made. Examinations were given as part of the school work and regular Instruction Permits issued. At the conclusion of the course, road tests were given by State Driver License Examiners at the school; which, if passed, resulted in the issuance of a driver's license.

Statistical results of this course are as follows:

- 109 Students signed preliminary applications.
 - 25 Students eliminated because of parent's failure or refusal to assume liability, physical defects, etc.
 - 7 Dropped the course after being accepted.
 - 77 Students completed the prescribed course.
- 12 Of these were unable to pass the final driving test. (Arrangements were made to retake the examination; hence, failure was not final.)
 - 18 Did not take the test, needing more driving practice. (All indicated the test would be taken before expiration of the school-issued Instruction Permit.)
 - 47 Students passed all tests and were licensed as drivers.

In his final report on this activity, the Sergeant in charge stated, "The students attended class faithfully, turned in their lessons promptly, and were eager to learn. Certainly the knowledge and understanding of the many factors involved in the operation of an automobile which has been gained by the seventy-seven students who completed this first course, should be reflected in the many years of driving ahead for all of them."

Traffic Violators' School

In cooperation with the Juvenile Traffic Court, a Traffic Violators' School was conducted by the Educational Detail. The course was held at Mission High School each Tuesday evening for one hour and consisted of six sessions. While most of the members of the class were assigned as a condition of probation, many attended for instruction which would enable them to pass their driver license examinations. On several occasions parents have required the attendance of their sons before permitting them to make applications for drivers' licenses. The attendance was as follows:

Number of sessions held.....	29
Average attendance	23.6
Persons completing required six sessions.....	97

Traffic Safety Checks

Since there is no compulsory vehicle inspection in the State of California, a series of Traffic Safety Checks was organized and directed by the Educational Detail during the last three months of 1947. This series of Checks reached its peak during the Christmas Season in the establishment of nine Check areas on Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve, which were frankly operated as "drunk-driver traps". The wide-spread publicity attending this program, together with the favorable comment in the press and on the radio, was chiefly responsible for the Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve being free from traffic fatalities. The Safety Checks resulted in the following:

Number of Traffic Safety Checks conducted.....	38
Number of vehicles checked	9,801

Defects discovered and Citations issued therefor:

Registration violations	1,237
Driver license violations.....	443
Headlight violations	539
Tail light violations	1,114
License light violations.....	2,757

Defective mufflers	83
Defective windshields and windshield wipers.....	116
Other	97*
	<hr/>
	6,508

*Includes 30 drivers under the influence of intoxicants.

The introduction of Mechanical Defect citations was also undertaken to expedite the Traffic Safety Checks. This in turn led to the establishment, at the Police Academy, of a Mechanical Defects Bureau staffed by two light-duty officers. During 1947 the following mechanical defects were cleared through this Bureau by presentation of the vehicle for inspection or by proof of repair or correction:

Registration violations	853
Driver license violations.....	71
Headlight violations	474
Tail light violations.....	914
License light violations.....	1,795
Defective brakes	61
Defective mufflers	59
Defective windshields or windshield wipers.....	62
	4,289

In addition to the foregoing major activities, speakers were provided for meetings of various kinds with the showing of motion pictures as requested. Assistance was given the School Department and the Courts in the field of Safety Education. Liaison was provided in safety programs of such organizations as the Chamber of Commerce, Safety Council, fleet operators and insurance companies.

Publicity releases and radio scripts were prepared and issued to cover the various activities of the Traffic Bureau. Appearances on local radio programs were made, articles were written for publication and assistance was given in the preparation of other stories and features.

Still another important function of this Detail was the organization and presentation of much of the material dealing with Traffic subjects in the Recruit and In-service Training programs at the Police Academy.

SCHOOL SAFETY PATROL ACTIVITIES FOR 1947

The School Safety Patrol was organized in January 1923 to create an organization of selected pupils of the San Francisco schools for the protection of students from hazards of street traffic while traveling to and from school, and assist in the development of a well rounded educational safety program for all children of school age; to educate the members of the organization in the control of street traffic, both vehicular and pedestrian; and to create knowledge and encourage the practice of "SAFETY FIRST" at all times.

The patrols are sponsored by the Board of Education, the Police Department, the California State Automobile Association, The California Congress of Parents and Teachers, the San Francisco Parochial Schools and the Catholic Parent Teacher Groups.

At the beginning of each school year, the Inspector of School Safety Patrol, or his assistant, calls at the schools and gives each new patrol unit instructions in its duties, and checks the vicinity of the schools for traffic hazards, and where a change in the recommended route or routes to school is advisable, the principal is notified and a student-body meeting is held to instruct the pupils in the new routes, the obeying of traffic signals, and the using of underpasses and prescribed crossings while en-route to and from school.

Throughout the school term, safety meetings are held in the school auditoriums on the subject of traffic safety. Problems peculiar to each school are given particular emphasis.

The Inspector of School Traffic Patrols constantly surveys the crossings used by students going to and from schools, and where necessary, recommends the installation of painted crosswalks, "School Slow" signs on the pavement, "Stop" signs, traffic signals and other safety devices for the protection of the school children.

Meetings are held with the safety chairmen of the Parent Teacher Groups frequently, and safety problems of their schools are discussed and whenever possible complaints of the members are corrected. Addresses are also made at meetings of the various school units.

With the rising popularity of the bicycle in recent years, bicycle training has become an important phase of school safety work, particularly in the Junior High Schools. In these schools, assemblies are held on the subject of bicycle safety, and instructions are given the students in the California Vehicle Code as it applies to bicycle riders. The bicycle programs include the showing of sound motion pictures that are entertaining as well as instructive.

Where a sufficient number of students ride bicycles to school regularly, bicycle clubs are organized within the school. Club members are provided with a booklet on bicycling and a membership card. These materials are furnished by the California State Automobile Association. The clubs are under the guidance of a faculty member who is assisted by the Inspector of School Traffic Patrols at the club's regular meetings. Student's bicycles are stored in racks that are locked during the time school is in session, and bicycles are only permitted to be brought to school when properly licensed for the current year.

The California Theatre Owners Association continues to provide Saturday matinee passes to the members of the patrols who have served for the current week, as a reward. A member of the patrol is allowed to attend any theatre in his district, from the list printed on the back of his pass.

As an additional reward for the Patrol's work of the past year, the Coca-Cola Company was host at a special Saturday morning show, given at the Fox Theatre. During the show, addresses were made by the sponsors of the patrols. The Coca-Cola Company plans to make this an annual event.

Owing to strike conditions in one police district, and lack of police officers at the time, it was impossible to detail police officers to school crossings usually covered, and the school crossings were covered by members of the school patrols until it was possible to again detail police officers.

The annual review was held at Kezar Stadium and efficiency prizes provided by the California State Automobile Association were awarded to the schools with the highest efficiency record in each of the eleven battalions.

For the past year, the San Francisco Call-Bulletin has sponsored a "Green Pennant" campaign to aid in the reduction of traffic accidents to school children. The pennant's color and design is green with the figure of a safety patrol boy wearing a white safety belt. When a school has completed sixty days with a perfect safety record, the green pennant is flown from the school flag pole, and after each additional sixty days, a gold star is added to the pennant. When a traffic accident occurs involving a child of any one school, the flag of that school cannot be flown for sixty days.

When the Green Pennant Campaign was first organized, meetings were held at selected public and parochial schools. These meetings were attended by officers of the safety patrols, their teachers, and their sponsors. Addresses were made, and those in attendance carried the safety messages back to their schools. Interest was created by safety posters advising the students to "Keep the Green Pennant Flying". One hundred forty-two schools were enrolled in the safety contest and thirty-six schools kept perfect safety records.

The child death rate from automobile accidents throughout the city remains the same as the previous year—a total of five children of school age. The number of children of school age injured in automobile accidents decreased from 934 in 1946 to 794 in 1947, a decrease of 140 for the year.

SAN FRANCISCO POLICE ACADEMY

The year 1947 marked an increase of activity in training due to availability of personnel. In December the department reached its authorized strength for the first time since the start of World War II, although a number of temporary patrolmen are still employed.

Fifteen classes of recruits, totalling 355 men, were trained at the Academy during the year, and in addition two "In-Service" classes in Accident Prevention were conducted for 67 members of the San Francisco Police Department and 30 members of police departments from neighboring cities. Ten police officers from other cities were also enrolled in Basic Recruit Courses.

The aim of the Academy is to instruct new members in the fundamentals of police procedure and to acquaint all members of the department with new and improved methods. Training is made as practical as possible and the officer's responsibility to maintain high standards of conduct and service is emphasized.

The following is a summary of the Basic Recruit Course:

TRAFFIC EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

The Educational Detail, operating in a staff position under the Captain of Traffic, organized and directed the educational activities of the Traffic Bureau. This Detail was composed of a permanently assigned Sergeant of Police and such other officers are were required from time to time. The major projects undertaken by this Detail during 1948 were as follows:

Traffic Violators' School

In cooperation with the Juvenile Traffic Court, a Traffic Violators' School was conducted by the Educational Detail. The course was held at Mission High School each Tuesday evening for one hour and six sessions were required to complete the course. While most of the members of the classes were assigned as a condition of probation by the Juvenile Court of San Francisco and other jurisdictions, there were several who attended for instruction which would enable them to pass driver license examinations. On several occasions parents have required the attendance of their sons before permitting them to make application for drivers' licenses. The attendance was as follows:

Number of sessions held.....	33
Average attendance per session.....	31.5
Persons completing required six sessions.....	202

Traffic Safety Checks

Since there is no compulsory vehicle inspection in the State of California, a series of Traffic Safety Checks was again organized and directed by the Educational Detail during 1948. This series of Checks reached its peak during the Christmas Season. Traditionally Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve contribute the highest toll of the year in traffic fatalities and accidents, particularly those due to the excessive use of intoxicants. On these two nights Traffic Safety Checks were held at eight strategic locations throughout the city. While these Checks operated toward the correction of mechanical defects, they were commonly referred to and publicized as "Drunk Traps." The widespread publicity attending this program, together with favorable comment in the press and on the radio, was chiefly responsible for the entire Christmas and New Year's Season being without a single such traffic fatality. The Traffic Safety Checks resulted in the following:

Number of Traffic Safety Checks conducted.....	92
Number of vehicles checked.....	8,401
Registration violations	1,312
Driver license violations	460
Headlight violations	643
Tail light violations	1,149
License light violations	3,483
Defective brakes	147
Defective windshields and windshield wipers.....	104
Defective mufflers	107
Other	42*
	<hr/> 7,447

*Includes 14 drivers under the influence of intoxicants.

The use of Mechanical Defect citations was continued with a view toward expediting the Traffic Safety Checks. These citations were cleared at the Mechanical Defects Bureau established at the Police Academy by the presentation of the vehicle for inspection or by proof of repair or correction. The number of defects so cleared are as follows:

Registration violations	1,374
Driver license violations	247
Headlight violations	796
Tail light violations	1,537
License light violations	3,761
Defective Brakes	114
Defective mufflers	157
Defective windshields and windshield wipers.....	114
	<hr/> 8,100

In addition to the foregoing major activities, speakers were provided for meetings of various kinds with the showing of motion pictures as requested. Assistance was given the School Department and the Courts in the field of Safety Education. Liaison was provided in safety programs of such organizations as the Chamber of Commerce, Safety Council, fleet operators and insurance companies. Inaugurated in 1948 was the new service of Driver-Testing, utilizing psycho-physical testing devices.

TRAFFIC EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM (Continued)

Publicity releases and radio scripts were prepared and issued to cover the various activities of the Traffic Bureau. Appearances on local radio programs were made, articles were written for publication and assistance was given in the preparation of other stories and features. Several special events were also handled through this Detail. These included the policing of the Soap-Box Derby, Junior Chamber of Commerce Safety activities, the preparation of a Police exhibit at the Photography Exposition and others.

Still another important function of this Detail was the organization and presentation of much of the material dealing with Traffic subjects in the Recruit and In-Service Training programs at the Police Academy.

SCHOOL SAFETY PATROL ACTIVITIES FOR 1948

During the last session of the State Legislature the School Safety Patrols were officially recognized and standardized throughout California. The rules and regulations governing the establishment, general duties, practices and uniforms are set forth in the California Administrative Code under Secs. 155, 156 and 157, Art. 17, Subchapter 1 of Chapter 1 of Title 5, Education.

Under the provisions of this Code the patrols will operate under the same set of rules, and will wear the same uniforms, so that motorists will not be confused by different methods in different communities. While the rules and regulations were being compiled the Inspector of School Traffic Patrols was present at the meetings and suggested rules and regulations that have been practiced in San Francisco for many years, and they were accepted as standard practices for the Code.

The basic standard uniform for patrol members shall be an overseas cap, Federal yellow in color, to which optional colored piping may be added. The white Sam Browne belt and/or a red upper garment with sleeves may also be worn as part of the basic standard uniform. The basic standard uniform specified above must be worn at all times while on duty.

The value of the Safety Patrol organization is shown in the reduction of fatalities among school children in San Francisco from the year 1926, when the first records were kept, to 1948. Accidents were reduced from 26 in 1926 to 3 in 1948, while the school population has increased from 78,123 in 1923 to 91,114 in 1948, and the population of San Francisco from 550,000 in 1923 to 875,000 in 1948. The automobile registration has increased from 89,052 in 1923 to 250,000 in 1948, not to mention the 75,000 transient automobiles that pass through San Francisco daily.

In 1923 there were only 30 traffic signals, and at present there are 325 signals installed, and several manually operated signals are planned for some of the heavier school crossings. Two of that type were installed during the past year.

The patrols are sponsored by the Board of Education, the Police Department, the California State Automobile Association, the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, the San Francisco Parochial Schools and the Catholic Parent Teacher Groups.

The patrol units are instructed at the beginning of each school term by the Inspector of School Traffic Patrols, and his assistants, and each unit receives instructions in its duties.

The schools are checked for traffic hazards, and where a change in the recommended route or routes to school is advisable, the principal is notified and a student body meeting is held to instruct the pupils in the new routes. They are also instructed to obey the traffic signals and the signals of the patrols, and to use underpasses and prescribed crossings while enroute to and from school.

The sum of $20,000 is allowed in the budget to provide for painting school crosswalks and the painting of "School Slow" on the pavement approaching the crosswalks. The Inspector of School Traffic Patrol makes frequent inspections of school crosswalks and they are repainted as often as required.

Meetings are held with the safety chairmen of both parent-teacher groups during the school terms and the safety problems and possible complaints of the members are corrected and addresses are made at meetings of the school units whenever possible.

Bicycle traffic training has become an important phase of school safety work in the Junior High and Elementary Schools. In these schools assemblies are held on the subject of bicycle safety, at which time they are instructed in the California Vehicle Code as it applies to bicycle riders. Bicycle clubs are organized and a booklet on bicycling and a membership card is issued. A complete bicycle safety program is planned for 1949 with a police officer assigned to hold meetings, form clubs and prevent dangerous riding habits of bicyclists, attending the schools.

The California Theatre Owners Association continues to provide Saturday matinee passes for the members of patrols who have served for the current week. A member of the patrol is allowed to attend any theatre in his district from the list printed on the back of the pass upon the presentation of his patrol membership card and his theatre pass. As an additional reward last Christmas the Mars Bars Candy Company gave a theatre party to all the members of the patrol at the Golden Gate Theatre on a Saturday morning. Additional acts were presented, including Dr. I. Q. and Jolly Bill, and candy and money prizes were given to the members of the patrol answering the questions asked by Dr. I. Q. This coming Christmas season another theatre party will be sponsored by the Coca-Cola Company.

The Green Pennant Safety Campaign sponsored by the San Francisco Call-Bulletin is in its third year and has helped to reduce the number of accidents through their safety campaign and the desire of the students to keep the Green Pennant flying, showing that there has not been a child injured at that school. As an additional reward each week a "patrol boy of the week" is selected and a radio program arranged at the school. The boy selected is rewarded with a handsome belt and buckle with the emblem "Safety Leader" inscribed on the buckle, and a "Jolly Bill" of station KNBC interviews the patrol boy. The Inspector of School Traffic Patrols presents the belt and buckle and a certificate and a transcription is made at the school and is broadcast the same evening over KNBC at 5 p.m.

Another feature of this campaign was the awarding of prizes for safety posters and several hundred posters were submitted.

As a result of this Green Pennant campaign the number of children injured in traffic accidents in San Francisco decreased from 794 in 1947, to 660 in 1948—a decrease of 134.

Number of public schools served by the patrols.....	93
Number of parochial schools served by the patrols.....	31
Number of private schools served by the patrols.....	3
Total	127
Total number of children attending schools.....	91,114
Total number of patrol members.....	4,500
Total number of school crossings.....	640
Total number of busses transporting students from overcrowded schools to schools with vacant rooms.....	35

There was a decrease in the number of children killed in traffic accidents from 5 in 1947 to 3 in 1948. None of the children injured or killed in traffic accidents occurred at a school crossing.

POLICE ACADEMY

The Administrators of this department are cognizant of the fact that an adequately trained police personnel leads to an efficient performance of police duty. They have cooperated with all training activities carried on at the Police Academy by supporting them to the fullest degree.

Police officers are trained to enable them to go forth and serve their community equipped with the highest standards of knowledge and integrity. Intelligent and efficient service by police officers instills confidence into the public.

It is the aim of all police departments that better understanding of mutual problems exist between the public and the police. Eventually this goal will be attained. One of the most important mediums which must be utilized in achieving this purpose is TRAINING.

During the year of 1948, the training facilities of the Police Academy were used to the fullest extent. A total of 711 members participated in the various training programs which were conducted.

These training programs consisted of the following:

Number of Classes	Types of Classes
8	Recruit classes for patrolmen.
12	In-service training for patrolmen.
3	Specialized training, Traffic Division.

Looking forward to 1949, an active training program is scheduled throughout the year. In-Service training classes for Sergeants of Police, Inspectors, and Patrolmen are scheduled. Two twelve weeks training courses will be held for recruit Patrolmen who will be appointed during the year. A specialized type of recruit training will also be conducted for ten Policewomen who are to be appointed during 1949.

TRAFFIC EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

The Educational Detail, operating in a staff position under the Director of Traffic, organized and directed the educational activities of the Traffic Bureau. This Detail was composed of a sergeant and one officer permanently assigned, as well as such other officers as were required from time to time. The major projects undertaken by this Detail were as follows:

Traffic Violators' School

In cooperation with the Juvenile Traffic Court of San Francisco and of the surrounding area, a Traffic Violators' School was conducted by this Detail. This course, comprising of six consecutive weekly sessions of one hour each, was held at the San Francisco Police Academy each Thursday evening commencing at 8:00 p. m.

Since each of the boys attending these sessions was in possession of a valid operator's license for the State of California, his ability to legally operate a motor vehicle within this State had been amply demonstrated. Because of this, the attitude of the individual was given special emphasis in this course of instruction. The motor vehicle laws were graphically illustrated, with particular stress being placed upon the reasonableness of compliance with the Vehicle Code as contrasted with the absurdity of the arbitrary violation of its provisions. Attendance at the Traffic School was of great value to those boys who, in the opinion of the Juvenile Court, needed instruction to formulate a proper viewpoint of traffic law observance as well as to learn correct driving practices.

Scope of the Course

First Hour—	Driver responsibility to society. Accident experience in San Francisco. Moral, legal and financial responsibility.
Second Hour—	Speed, Cutting in and out. Parking, Improper starting from parked position.
Third Hour—	Enforcement and safety. Signalling, signs and penalties.
Fourth Hour—	Right of way violations. Hit and Run violations.
Fifth Hour—	Film on Traffic Safety.
Sixth Hour—	Written examination and critique.

TRAFFIC SAFETY CHECKS

The Traffic Safety Checks were again organized and directed by the Educational Detail during 1949. This series of checks reached its climax during the Christmas Season. Past experience had indicated Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve to be the worst days of the year so far as traffic fatalities and accidents were concerned, particularly those accidents caused by the excessive use of intoxicants. On these two nights, Traffic Safety Checks were held at strategic locations throughout the city. While these checks were operated for the correction of mechanical defects, they were commonly known and publicized as "Drunk Traps." The widespread publicity attending this program, together with the favorable comments of the press and radio, was responsible to a great degree for another Christmas and New Year's Season being without a single traffic fatality. The Traffic Safety Checks resulted in the following:

Number of Traffic Safety Checks conducted.....	92
Number of vehicles checked.....	6,982
Violations Found:
Registration violations	1,113
Driver license violations	450
Headlight violations	520
Tail light violations	1,264
License light violations	3,316
Defective brakes	98
Defective windshields and windshield wipers.....	87
Defective mufflers	63
Other	94
Total	7,005

The use of Mechanical Defect citations was continued with a view toward expediting the Safety Checks with a minimum of inconvenience to the motoring public. These citations were cleared at the Mechanical Defects Bureau established at the Police Academy by the presentation of the vehicle for inspection or by proof of repair or correction. The number of defects so cleared are as follows:

Registration violations	1,218
Driver license violations	213
Headlight violations	522
Tail light violations	1,175
License light violations	3,426
Defective Brakes	93
Defective mufflers	72
Defective windshields and windshield wipers.....	96
Total	6,815

In addition to the foregoing major activities, speakers were provided for meetings of various kinds, with the showing of motion pictures as requested. Assistance was given the School Department and the various Courts in the field of Safety Education. Liaison was provided in safety programs of such organizations as the Chamber of Commerce, Safety Council, Veterans organizations, fleet operators and insurance companies. The Driver-Testing service, utilizing psycho-physical testing devices, was again made available in 1949.

Publicity releases and radio scripts were prepared and issued to cover the various activities of the Traffic Bureau. Appearances on local radio programs were made, articles were written for publication and assistance was given in the preparation of other stories and features. Several special events were also handled through this Detail. These included the policing of the Soap-box Derby, Junior Chamber of Commerce Safety activities and the preparation of Police exhibits in store windows and other places of public assemblage.

Other important functions of this Detail included the organization and presentation of much of the material dealing with traffic subjects in the Recruit and In-service training programs at the Police Academy. The public address car assigned to this Detail was used with remarkable results in meeting problems concerning pedestrians and congestion. While the results of these varied activities cannot be measured with any accurate degree of mathematical certainty, the efforts expended in the field of Education must have contributed to the establishment of San Francisco's fine traffic record made during the year 1949.

JUVENILE BUREAU

Among the earliest records of attempts to fix the responsibilities and duties of officers are found clear indications that the prevention of crime is a fundamental and recognized responsibility of law enforcement agencies. It will be noted that in all tabulations the obligation, "To Prevent Crime" is the major function listed.

The term crime prevention as applied to police work involves two distinct phases of police practice. The more practical phase of crime prevention (dating back to the origin of the American Police system) deals with the various types of police activities for the elimination of physical factors contributing to crime and the protection of property in order to prevent criminals from operating. The traditional administrative set-up of most police departments provides for this concept of crime prevention.

The other phase is a modern version for removing temptations and situations provocative of crime and guarding the young from criminal influences and tendencies. Since research has shown that most criminals begin their careers in early childhood, the modern idea of crime prevention directs the attention and activity of the police to the prevention of juvenile delinquency as the source of much crime.

The efficacy of a juvenile crime control unit in a police department has and will probably continue to be challenged, but the fact that the police have a very definite responsibility for crime prevention cannot be questioned. The police, by virtue of their authority and prestige as law enforcement officers, can and should exert a positive and constructive influence among the youth of the community.

Contact with so-called delinquent children has always been a part of regular police routine. Most delinquents fall into the hands of the police before being taken to the Juvenile Court. Usually the police determine whether or not a child shall be returned home or referred to the Juvenile Court. Frequently it is their influence that seals the fate of children committed to State Institutions, and it can safely be said that the absence of a Juvenile Bureau in a Police department is almost a certain indication of failure to keep abreast of the needs of the time.

Obviously this discriminating use of unofficial procedure demands the services of a personnel specializing in juvenile problems. Both the men and women assigned to this Bureau have been carefully selected for their fitness for dealing with juvenile problems and have been given specialized education and training for this modern and intelligent approach to errant youth and contributing factors.

The staff of the Juvenile Bureau consists of: 1 Captain, 1 Lieutenant, 2 Sergeants, 12 Police Officers, and 8 Women Protective Officers. The Bureau has its own quarters at 2475 Greenwich Street, and maintains hours of service from 8:00 A.M. until 1:00 A.M. Sundays excepted.

This unit is responsible for the follow-up investigations of all reports in which persons under the age of eighteen years are involved either as victims or perpetrator, except homicides, robbery and narcotic cases. It is responsible for the investigation of all cases involving school burglaries or bicycle thefts regardless of the age of the suspect. Further, the Juvenile Bureau is responsible for the proper investigation and referral or disposition of all complaints involving pornographic literature and indecent or obscene public shows; and since September 19, 1949, has taken over the supervision of public commercial dance halls. Following is a brief summary of the activities of the Police Juvenile Bureau for the year 1949:

BUREAU OF SPECIAL SERVICES

The Bureau of Special Services of the San Francisco Police Department is maintained primarily for the specialized handling of vice conditions that are bound to appear in varying degrees in any metropolis, large or small. The nature of the crimes that fall in this category call for specialized attention at the hands of officers well trained in this branch of police activity. Obviously, the man in uniform is seriously handicapped in detecting and stamping out vice in its many ramifications, therefore the furtherance of police efficiency demands that under-cover specialists take over where the regular police force comes face to face with its limitations.

Because of the foregoing facts, this Bureau spends all possible time and effort in the detection and prosecution of the most insidious of all crimes coming under the "Vice" classification,—the unlawful traffic in drugs or narcotics. Working both alone and in conjunction with the Federal and State Narcotic Bureaus, the Bureau of Special Services has succeeded in making numerous arrests, thereby keeping narcotic crimes at a minimum.

All other forms of commercialized vice has received this Bureau's special attention, with good results. The within statistics show what has been done in this field. The control of gambling and prostitution has been especially successful. Especially gratifying also has been the results obtained from the unrelenting war waged against the latter of these evils, prostitution. A marked, downward trend in the number of venereal cases reported is in evidence. The Venereal Disease Control Office of the 12th Naval District reports that the number of VD cases among naval personnel dropped from 215 in 1948 to 116 in 1949. Likewise the San Francisco Health Department reports the following: November 1945—766 VD cases; November 1946—537 cases; November 1947—446 cases; November 1948—328 cases; November 1949—271 cases. This decrease came about notwithstanding a considerable increase in population during the period covered. This low figure for 1949 is attributed to the constant vigilance and numerous arrests made for prostitution violations by other members of this department, together with officers assigned to the Bureau of Special Services.

Aside from the above, this Bureau's activities included the following:

Investigation of theft cases connected with vice cases.....	117
Investigation of Army and Navy vice complaints.....	101
Warrants served	57

The following tabulations on vice arrests by the Bureau of Special Services is submitted. These figures cover first charges only.

SCHOOL SAFETY PATROL ACTIVITIES FOR 1949

The students enrolled in the School Safety Patrol are under the full time supervision of the Inspector of School Safety Patrols and three other officers of the San Francisco Police Department. Officers of this detail visit each school at least once each school term, but as a rule, make frequent visits at each location, assisting the teachers in charge of the Patrol Unit in organizing and instructing the members as to the proper way of performing school-crossing duties. In addition, continual visits are made to the school crossings by the Patrol Officers. Actions of the Junior Patrol members are observed, and corrections or suggestions are made when necessary.

The vicinity of schools are checked for traffic hazards, and prescribed routes to schools are recommended to the student-body by the officers of the Patrol.

An annual appropriation of $21,000.00 is allowed in the Public Works budget to provide for school crosswalk markers, also for the painting of "School Slow" signs on the pavement approaching the school crosswalks. This outlay is exclusive of the normal painting program of crosswalks on main thoroughfares. The School Patrol makes frequent inspections of crosswalks and they are repainted as often as required; also new or additional crosswalks are recommended where needed.

The Green-Pennant Safety Program sponsored by the San Francisco Call-Bulletin is now in its fourth year. A Safety Campaign Group called the Call-Bulletin Safety Caravan visits one school daily with a short film on safety, an officer of the Patrol addresses the assembled students before and after the showing of the film, stressing safety factors as shown in the film. An examination on Traffic Safety is then given the students. This test is held and supervised by each classroom teacher, and traffic safety is impressed on each individual student.

The Junior Patrols are sponsored by the Board of Education, the San Francisco Police Department, the California State Automobile Association, the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, the San Francisco Archdiocesan Parochial Schools, and the Catholic Parent-Teachers Association.

As an added feature of the Patrol's Safety activity, a bicycle safety program has been incorporated in the general program, and has become an important role in the Junior High and Elementary School safety education. The assembled students are shown films depicting safe and unsafe riding practices, and instructions are given on laws pertinent to the operation of bicycles.

Bicycle clubs are formed and instructive booklets and circulars distributed. Additional activities include physical inspection of bicycles to determine safe condition, also skill riding tests and written examinations covering bicycle operating laws.

The following data shows the scope of the School Safety Patrol activities:

Public Schools served	95	Number of children attending	91,647
Parochial Schools served	34	all schools
Private Schools served	3	Number of Junior Patrol members	4,500
		School crossing covered	563
Total	132	Number of painted school crosswalks	640

TRAFFIC EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM

The Traffic Educational Detail, which is the "Education" of the recognized triology of "Enforcement-Education-Engineering" upon which the modern approach to traffic safety is built, is a unit composed of one sergeant and one officer, and such officers as may be detailed to assist its program.

The function of the Traffic Educational Detail is to disseminate information about traffic safety, with emphasis on the proper techniques of driving and the effects of careless motoring conduct. Such education is handled in the following:

TRAFFIC SCHOOL: This is conducted at the Police Academy by the Educational Detail. It is a well-recognized and desirable method of dealing with traffic offenders, principally minors, whose violations show a faulty knowledge of the driving laws, as well as a lack of comprehension of the laws of physics that affect motoring, as momentum, gravity and inertia, or an improper social attitude as to courtesy, social responsibility, and the exercise of reasonable prudence.

Scope of the Course

First Session: Driver's moral, legal and financial responsibility.

Accident experience in San Francisco.

Second Session: Speeding, cutting-in, right-of-way violations.

Third Session: Turning and parking; signs and signals.

Fourth Session: Equipment, enforcement, and safety.

Fifth Session: Film on Traffic Safety.

Sixth Session: Written examination.

DRIVER EDUCATION IN THE HIGH SCHOOLS: This is conducted as an investment in accident prevention, for young people have the highest rate of accidents. They are trained in dual-driver instruction automobiles, and are indoctrinated in the traffic laws, laws of physics, and the physical characteristics of drivers and pedestrian by reaction tests, depth perception tests, etc. The Educational Detail acts as consultant in this course and furnishes guest speakers.

ADULT EDUCATION — DRIVER EDUCATION COURSE: This is a somewhat similar course to that of Driver Education in the High Schools, but more emphasis is placed in the hazard presented by the pedestrian, because many of the students in these classes are adults and are non-drivers.

SAFETY FLEET TRAINING: This group of safety-minded drivers provide a particularly fertile field for building driver safety experience records which serve to keep down accidents and also as a model for other drivers to imitate. The Police Educational Detail furnish speakers, posters, charts and movies for the safety talks.

POLICE RECRUIT TRAINING: The function of the Education Detail is to provide safety training for those who are about to use police equipment and to instill safety consciousness in those who are about to apply the enforcement program. This a rather thorough course in techniques of law enforcement, law, and the reasons why accident prevention is such a vital and necessary subject.

IN-SERVICE TRAINING FOR DEPARTMENT MEMBERS: This course, given by the Educational Detail is similar to the preceding program, but with some advanced material more suited for members with greater experience.

TRAFFIC SAFETY CHECKS: These are organized and supervised by the Educational Detail, particularly at times of the year when the volume of accidents shows a tendency to rise. These Traffic Safety Checks have been especially effective around Christmas and New Year when so many drivers need to be checked for intoxicating liquor, but the checks have also been found to be of great value as a means of examining vehicles for mechanical defects such as inadequate brakes, lights, windshields and other equipment.

The Traffic Safety Checks resulted in the following:

Number of Traffic Safety Checks conducted.....	27
Number of Vehicles checked	1428
Violations found	1538
Registration violations	437
Drivers license violations	70
Headlight violations	114
Tail light violations	358
License light violations	473
Defective brakes	26
Defective windshields and windshield wipers	11
Defective mufflers	9
Other	40
Total	1538

The Mechanical Defects Inspection Bureau is conducted at the Police Academy for the inspection and correction of mechanical and other equipment on motor vehicles which have been allowed to deteriorate below the standard required by the California Vehicle Code. This Bureau provides a prompt and convenient method of checking vehicles which were observed by members of the department, particularly on the occasion of Traffic Safety Checks.

Publicity by press, radio, television, and by personal contact, provides an expression and operation of the Educational Division of the Traffic Bureau, whose program is a potent element in the elimination of accidents, for the modern concept of law enforcement and accident prevention places a considerable emphasis on eliminating the evil by attacking the source, which is more efficient than repressing it after the damage is done.

SCHOOL SAFETY PATROL ACTIVITIES FOR 1950

The School Safety Patrol Detail, a unit of the Traffic Bureau under the Director of Traffic is composed of an Inspector in charge, a Sergeant of Police and two (2) Patrolmen.

This detail was a full time assignment and its main duties consisted of the organizing, training and supervision of individual Safety Patrols in all the San Francisco schools, public, parochial and private.

The patrol units are organized and trained twice a year, at the beginning of each school term and refresher courses given during each term by the members of the detail. In addition to the meetings with the patrol units, assembled student body meetings are addressed on general safety practices.

In supervising, individual units are visited by a member of this detail weekly.

The Annual Review of the patrol units was held at Kezar Stadium on Wednesday, May 24th. The units were reviewed by his Honor, Mayor Elmer E. Robinson, the Board of Police Commissioners, the Chief of Police, the Superintendent of the Public Schools, the Superintendent of the Archdiocesan Schools and many other civic leaders, before an estimated crowd of five thousand people.

Awards were presented to individual patrol units for efficiency in the performance of their duties. The awards were based on the observation of the members of this detail on their weekly visits.

The vicinity of Schools are checked for traffic hazards and prescribed routes to schools are recommended to the student-body by the members of the Patrol.

Meetings with the Parent-Teacher groups and Mother's Clubs are also attended, and the purpose and duties of patrol units are explained. These groups are co-sponsors of the School Safety Patrols and supply the uniform caps, white belts and rain clothes for the patrol units of their respective schools.

An annual appropriation of $21,000 is allowed in the Public Works budget to provide for school crosswalks and for the painting of "School Slow" signs on the pavement approaching the school crosswalks. This outlay is exclusive of the normal painting program of crosswalks on main thoroughfares.

Members of this detail make two surveys a year of crosswalks and recommend repainting as often as required. The establishment of new or additional crosswalks are recommended, where needed, to the Board of Police Commissioners.

The patrols are sponsored by the Board of Education, the Police Department, the California State Automobile Association, the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, the San Francisco Archdiocesan Parochial Schools and the Catholic Parent Teacher groups.

The following data shows the scope of School Safety Patrol activities:

Public Schools served	95	Number of Junior Patrol members	4,500
Parochial Schools served	34	Number of School crossings covered	540
Private Schools served	3	Number of Painted School crosswalks....	670
Number of children attending all schools	93,000

SAN FRANCISCO POLICE ACADEMY

During the year 1950 specialized types of training courses were conducted at the Police Academy for the various ranks of the department.

Regular recruit training classes were held and in addition In-service training at the administrative level. One of the most important features was the discussion regarding anticipated problems which the department will be confronted with as a result of modern radiological and atomic warfare.

Classes were in session for thirty-five weeks of the year. During those periods the following individual number of courses were conducted:

Recruit training courses	8
In-service training courses:
Riot control	2
Radiological and atomic warfare	4
<hr/> Total	<hr/> 14

During the year 1950 the following number of personnel attended the training courses:
